

Fullstack Developer (m/w/d) (Full-time)

About us:

We are a Berlin-based startup revolutionizing package delivery. We enable everyone to receive their packages free of frustration. PaketConcierge accepts all packages, regardless of where or what our customers order and which carrier is used for delivery.

PaketConcierge has already received several awards. Our business model has convinced renowned investors. Now we are looking to boost our small team to build something unique and big. If you want to make a real difference with your work and are looking for a career, you've come to the right place.

Your challenges:

Tech is at the core of our business. It is the machinery that enables the outstanding user experience we strive for. PaketConcierge is 100 % consumer first. Due to the nature of the process-driven field of business we are in, the challenges are manyfold.

At this early stage, we are building the solid foundation that PaketConcierge will scale on. As a fullstack developer, you will be involved in building all aspects of our product. Your keen attention to detail is key to releasing polished user-facing frontends. Your solid experience enables you to build a reliable backend and integrate with APIs of partners which are backbone of our offering. Within a small team, you have the opportunity to take ownership. You ensure on-time delivery of incremental improvements to the product. Our iterative approach and release pipeline us to move quickly and react to consumer feedback.

Your profile:

- Bachelor's degree or equivalent
- several years of experience in software development in the fast-paced ecosystem
- willingness to challenge yourself and learn new skills
- solid knowledge in web-based tech stacks (Node.js, TypeScript)

- safe handling of engineering processes and best practices (GitHub, code reviews, test coverage)
- experience with native mobile development or cross-platform approaches like React Native or Flutter is a plus
- attention to detail and a product mindset

Our offer:

- a permanent position with career opportunities
- a competent, highly qualified, and motivated team
- an appreciative management culture, flat hierarchies, and respectful cooperation
- a diverse, multilingual team
- Office at our flagship store in the startup district Brunnenstr. in Mitte
- creative freedom for your ideas and your commitment
- exciting, responsible tasks in an industry with huge potentials
- excellent career opportunities due to the above-average growth
- discount on the monthly BVG ticket

Have we spiked your interest?

Send your application to Gregor at jobs@paketconciierge.de. I am looking forward to your application.

(As of 18.12.2021)