

Ride On, Liza

Verse 1

She burned like the sunset, fierce and bold,
With a heart full of stories, untold.
Fast cars, open roads, chasing dreams,
Liza lived in the space between.
She'd ride with the wind, let her spirit soar,
Always searching, always wanting more.

Pre-Chorus

Oh, the waves would call her name,
The ocean knew she couldn't be tamed.
With a book in her hand and fire in her eyes,
She was a storm beneath blue skies.

Chorus

Ride on, Liza, your soul's still free,
In every wave that kisses the sea.
Your love lives on, your light won't fade,
In the hearts of the family you made.
Oh, Liza, ride on through the skies,
Your spirit's alive, it never dies.

Verse 2

She loved her boys with a love so deep,
Held their dreams, their laughter, their grief.
With her grandkids by her side, she'd play,
Teaching them the beauty of each new day.
Life was her canvas, bold and raw,
She lived by her own rules, her only law.

Pre-Chorus

Oh, the beach was her sacred place,
The wind and waves her sweet embrace.
In the sand with her stories untold,
Liza's spirit was worth more than gold.

Chorus

Ride on, Liza, your soul's still free,
In every wave that kisses the sea.
Your love lives on, your light won't fade,
In the hearts of the family you made.
Oh, Liza, ride on through the skies,
Your spirit's alive, it never dies.

Bridge

Now we see you in the sunrise glow,
Feel you in the wind when it starts to blow.
You taught us to love, to laugh, to fight,
To ride through life with all your might.

Chorus

Ride on, Liza, your soul's still free,
In every wave that kisses the sea.
Your love lives on, your light won't fade,
In the hearts of the family you made.
Oh, Liza, ride on through the skies,
Your spirit's alive, it never dies.

Outro

Ride on, Liza, forever you'll be,
A part of the world, in the air we breathe.
Ride on, Liza, with the wind at your back,
Your soul's on fire, blazing the track.
