

Anton Tkachenko – Artist & Curator

Anton Tkachenko (b. 1994) – artist, curator, founder of the self-organized space Garage 127, the contextual gallery NULLA, and a member of the collective VIDSOTOK. He has been nominated for the MUHi and NonStopMedia festivals. He has participated in exhibitions across Ukraine (Kharkiv, Lviv, Kyiv, Dnipro, Odesa, Poltava, Sumy) and internationally in Poland, Germany, Austria, and Portugal. His projects were featured at the BIRUCHIY International Symposium of Contemporary Art, GOGOLFEST, Odesa Biennale of Contemporary Art, and Documenta fifteen.

Currently, his practice spans various media: graphics, video, installations, and artist books. However, his artistic method remains almost always the same — combining two or more objects (items, techniques, materials, or anything carrying symbolic or semantic meaning) with a graphic image to create a conceptual collage. Through this collage, he aims to reinterpret the function of things, add new meanings, and build emotional and symbolic narratives.

His projects are often based on personal experience and involve spatial design.
