SENDI F

The morning sunlight streams into the room through the floor-to-ceiling windows. A light-colored, height-adjustable desk stands in the center, and the aroma of coffee wafts from behind the gray soundproof partition. The phone on the desk, charging wirelessly, emits a soft glow.
Even the message "Tomorrow is another day" on the screen seems to convey a sense of warmth, as if gently saying, “Let's have a good start to the day!"

The layout of the workspace is like a well-ordered poem—the slogan on the monitor reminds us of our goals, the hands of the small orange clock gently move, the new leaves of the potted plant at the corner of the desk brush against the black and white striped mug, and the orange headphones hang on the soundproof partition, as if waiting for their owner to finish work and then put them on to listen to their favorite music.

The white mesh office chair stood steadily in front of the desk; the curved backrest seemed to embrace the person about to sit down, and the black cushion was soft enough to absorb all the fatigue.

The wind outside the window blew the shadows of distant plants into the room, casting them onto the light-colored wooden table, overlapping with the shadow of the keyboard, creating a dynamic and gentle scene, like a moving painting.

The space is full of delightful little surprises—a large potted plant behind the partition, its leaves like tiny fans, subtly filtering the blue sky outside the window; and a whiteboard by the desk, adorned with photos—pictures of friends' smiling faces and scenic landscapes from travels—adding a touch of warmth and liveliness to the otherwise formal office space, as if a corner of someone's home had been brought here.

SENDI E

The design of the height-adjustable desk is thoughtfully crafted—its adjustable height allows users to find the most comfortable position, whether sitting to type on the keyboard or standing to think; the items on the desk are neatly arranged, with the phone, headphones, and mug each having its designated place, meeting the needs for efficient work while also reflecting personal style, creating a personalized workspace for each user.

The silent cabin can easily build a personal audio space. Owning it does not mean that it can be comparable to a million-dollar professional audio work, but what we can do is a very practical neutral sound environment, which will help you gain an advantage in listening Space or audio working conditions.

SILENCE BOOTH

A flexible and movable quiet cabin can satisfy many creative spaces for you. Unconventional aviation aluminum, carbon composite panels, and cabin glass are its main materials.
